District Farmers Are Busy With Wheat Harvest

Farmers are at their busiest time now as the ripened wheat is ready for threshing and combining. Huge combining machines are prevalent now, as the farmers man the machines, going through the fields dropping bags of grain which are stored later in granaries. But other farmers maintain the older method is better whereby they bind and thresh the sheaves, which, when bound make a pleasant array in the fields. Frank Oreskovich is such a farmer, and is shown in the photo above as he works in the wheat fields at his farm on Route 45 near Ellsworth.

U. S. To Call Star Witness

Minister To Testify In Clinton Trial

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The U. S. government was ready today to call a star witness in the Clinton contempt trial, a Baptist minister who was beaten and bloodied after he escorted six Negro students to a newly integrated high school.

He is the Rev. Paul Turner, 34, a native of Tennessee and pastor of Clinton's First Baptist Church. The beating occurred across the street from Clinton High School last Dec. 4.

The Rev. Mr. Turner is one of the main props in the government's case against the 15 defendants because part of the charge against them is that they committed "overt acts."

U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr. must prove:

1. That the 14 Tennesseans and Northern Segregationist John Kasper "knowingly" violated a U. S. District Court order forbidding interference with the high school integration.

2. That they conspired together to defy his injunction.

3. That, as a result, the "overt acts" were committed resulting in violence. At one point, 100 state troopers and more than 600 National Guardsmen, with tanks, were sent to Clinton to restore order.

The Rev. Mr. Turner has told reporters that one of the defendants, Clyde Cook, 35, bloodied his

Lost To Harding In Presidential Bid

James M. Cox, 3-Time Governor Of Ohio, Dies

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — James M. Cox, three-time Ohio governor and a newspaper publisher for more than half a century, was Democratic presidential candidate in 1920 with Franklin D. Roosevelt as his running mate. Warren G. Harding, another Ohio publisher, won the election by more than seven million votes.

Cox's death came after several years of failing health. Thursday afternoon he stumbled and fell while working at the Dayton Daily News, one of his newspapers, and that night suffered a stroke. He went into a coma the next day and never regained consciousness.

Although James Cox Jr. was chief executive officer of the newspapers, the elder Cox remained active in publishing the Dayton Daily News, the Dayton Journal Herald, the Springfield (Ohio) Sun, the Springfield (Ohio) News, The Miami (Fla.) Daily News, the Atlanta Journal and the Atlanta Constitution. Cox also operated stations WHIO and WHIO-TV in Dayton, WSB and WSB-TV in Atlanta and WCKT and WCKR radio and TV in Miami, Fla.

Cox was born March 31, 1870, on a farm near Jacksonburg in southwestern Ohio. His formal education ended after two years of high school, but at 16 he took a teacher's examination and passed it.

He taught for a few terms then joined a brother-in-law who was editor of a newspaper at Middletown, Ohio. Cox worked as a printer's devil, part-time reporter and general handy man. He later joined the Cincinnati Enquirer where, within a few years, he became a political writer.

His political interests developed and in 1908 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives from Ohio's 3rd Dist. Two years later he was re-elected.

At the end of his second term, he ran for governor and was elected. He served in 1913-15, 1917-19 and in 1919-1921 to become Ohio's first three-time chief executive.

230 Reported Drowned In Philippine Floods

MANILA (AP) — A flood caused by heavy rains in the backwash of typhoon Wendy has drowned 230 persons and left more than 1,000 missing in Mabini, the Philippine News Service said today.

A thousand homes were reported washed away in that city of Pangasinan Province, north of Manila, by torrents of water cascading from a mountainside. Police expressed fear all the missing persons had perished.

The typhoon passed into the South China sea Monday.

IST ARAB WOMEN TO WIN CAIRO (AP) — A schoolteacher commando and a social welfare worker are the first women ever elected to an Arab parliament. The pair won seats in Egypt's lower chamber in runoff voting Sunday. The elections named 188 deputies who will take their seats in the new Parliament to be inaugurated July 22.

Jets To Cross Nation Faster Than Bullet

LOS ALAMITOS, Calif. (AP) — Two supersonic jet fighters lifted from the ground today, bound for New York at bullet-like speed.

The first fighter was off at 6:05 a.m., the second at 6:33 a.m. (PDT) in "Operation Bullet"—in which the jets are expected to cross the nation at a speed faster than the velocity of a .45 caliber bullet.

The planes are faster-than-sound F8U1 Chance-Vought Crusaders and the route is 2,460 miles from Los Alamitos Naval Air Station to Floyd Bennett Field in New York.

Maj. John Glenn Jr., 36, of the U. S. Marine Corps, and Lt. Cmdr. Charles Demmler, 33, of the Navy, are the pilots.

Maj. Glenn, formerly of New Concord, Ohio, is stationed in Washington with the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics. Cmdr. Demmler, of Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., is a test pilot at the Naval Air Test Center, Patuxent River, Md.

Rear Adm. Thurston B. Clark, commander of Patuxent, said the purpose of the flight was "to test the sustained capability of the Crusader at near-maximum power over a long distance."

The pilots are expected to streak at more than 1,000 miles an hour, slowing for descents to refuel in the air and for the jet-down over New York. A .45 caliber bullet at muzzle velocity travels only about 586 m.p.h.

The existing official cross-country record is 3 hours, 44 minutes, 53.88 seconds, set by an F84F on March 9, 1955.

Ike Keeps Hands Off Civil Rights

Won't Take Public Stand, Knowland Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today was reported adopting a hands-off policy toward possible Senate changes in the administration's civil rights bill.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) said he does not expect the President to take any public stand. "President Eisenhower has never insisted on acceptance of the House bill as it is," Knowland said in an interview. "He does not regard that as his prerogative. It is a matter for the Senate to decide."

The Senate will vote later in the day on Knowland's motion to bring the House-passed bill officially before it.

Knowland, commanding a coalition of Republicans and Northern Democrats who expect to pass a civil rights bill, said he recognizes the House measure may need some "clarifying" amendments.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) has raised the specter of "bayonet rule" enforcement of all civil rights under provision of the bill. Knowland said this provision may need "clarifying."

"It was never intended or implied that federal troops would be used to enforce civil rights under this bill," he said.

Russell has picked up support from Senators Anderson (D-NM), Mundt (R-SD) and other for limiting application of the measure to cases involving voting rights.

Knowland declined to be tied down to any such narrowed application of the measure, despite Eisenhower's statement that his primary objective in asking Congress to act was to protect voting rights.

Russell said there will be no filibustering while the amending process is under way.

"We are going to stick to our knitting on these amendments," he said. "The speeches by our group will be to the point and not unnecessarily long."

While some Southerners took the view that they might be better off to let a watered down version of the bill pass without a filibuster, some were holdout out for last-ditch efforts to prevent a final vote on any measure.

Among the latter, Sen. Ellender (D-La) said he will fight against

Admits Crime Similar To Sheppard Murder

DELAND, Fla. (AP) — Chief Volusia County Jailor J. T. Deloach today reported a man identified as Donald J. Wedler has confessed a crime which may be the 1954 Sheppard murder in Cleveland but "we have our doubts about it."

The man was imprisoned here as an escapee from a state road camp where he was serving a breaking and entering sentence from Tampa, Deloach said.

The text of Wedler's confession was not immediately available. Deloach said his story is being investigated.

"There could be something to it. We just don't know," the jailor said. Deloach could give no home address for Wedler. He said the man had "been all over" and had been in reformatories "at several different places."

Mrs. Samuel H. Sheppard, wife of a Cleveland osteopath, was bludgeoned to death in July 1954. Her husband is serving a 10 year to life sentence imposed after he was convicted of the slaying.

Cornerstone Laying Is Scheduled For Sunday, Sept. 8

Although construction is behind one month because of the wet weather and the lack of steel for the buildings, Architect Ray Dela Motte told the Salem Board of Education that workers on the new $2 million senior high school could "make up" the month so that the buildings will be finished by Feb. 1, the originally announced completion date.

Dela Motte, who was present at the special meeting at the board's request, reported on the sewerage problem near the school area and other facets of construction and worked out with the board the date for a formal cornerstone dedication, Sept. 8.

Equipment to Be Installed

The Feb. 1 date will mark only the completion of the buildings, with the furnishings and equipment installation to come later.

Supt. of Schools E. S. Kerr said that according to present plans, the new senior high school will be used for the first time when the 1958-59 term opens in September of next year.

Brick will arrive today, with masons expected to begin work late today or early Wednesday on the storm sewer system and manhole work on E. Sixth St. and Hawley Ave. Covers for manholes are on the job.

The heavy rains throughout the summer have created a problem, particularly on E. Sixth St. where water was forced on to the street and land of property owners and in a few cases into their homes. Dela Motte said the snarl in getting the catch basins and manholes installed resulted when the original bricklayer, hired by the United Construction Co., which was awarded the sewage and manhole contract, refused to work in the muddy areas. But now, the architect noted, bricklayers have been secured for the job.

Structural steel is expected sometime this week, Dela Motte reported, and with its arrival along with expansion brick work, construction will go fast.

Five Unsuccessfully Attempt Jail Break

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Five inmates of the Montgomery County jail were thwarted in an attempted jail break early today, but a jailer was beaten before police arrived to quell the escape attempt.

Jailer Joe Swigert was taken to a hospital for treatment for bruises and abrasions, then discharged. Sheriff Bernard Keiter reported the five prisoners somehow obtained a hacksaw and cut their way through a metal plate from their cell block and by this means opened four cell doors.

That let them out into another barred security area of the jail where they met Swigert. They grabbed and beat him, but before they could make their way out of this locked area, another deputy jailer, Robert Schroder, outside this area, summoned police.

Police arrived and placed the five men back in their cells without further incident. The five men were identified as James Brown, 25, held for armed robbery; Fred Wilson, 19, accused of burglary; William Cox, 19, an escapee from the Boys Industrial School; Robert Rogan, 27, held for armed robbery and parole violations; and Arthur Fitzgerald, 32, held on a forgery charge. Fitzgerald is from Sheridan, Wyo., and the others are from Dayton.

Sheriff Keiter said he would file charges of assault and attempted jailbreak against the five.

Health Board To Lose $23,000

Ruling Places County Department In Plight

LISBON — The sub-divisions of the Columbiana County health district may receive $23,000 in refunds from a surplus of Columbiana County health funds which has accumulated over a number of years.

An attorney general's opinion received by Prosecutor G. William Brokaw at the request of the Columbiana County Health Board in regards to surplus funds left over at end of a fiscal year, says the funds must be returned to the sub-divisions and not carried over as has been done for the last 30 years or so.

A law requiring the health board to submit its anticipated budget to the county budget committee by the first Monday in April has consequently placed the board in a serious financial situation, it is reported. The board anticipated the balance of $23,000 would be left to be applied to next year's budget and made allowances for that amount when it submitted its budget requests.

Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner, has been authorized to go to the State Health Department to discuss the problem.

The board, at its meeting Monday, expressed the thought that the sub-divisions could return $11,000 of the $23,000 back to the county health department so that the 1958 budget would balance. Also discussed was the possibility of placing a small levy on the ballot at the November election to make up the $11,000 deficit in the 1958 budget.

It was suggested that a special meeting of the advisory committee be called to consider the 1958 budget which legally cannot be changed. The tentative date set for the advisory committee meeting is Monday, July 29. The county commissioners, budget commission and prosecuting attorney will be invited to attend.

Mayor Karl J. Lindner of Salineville is president of the advisory committee and R. R. Barber of Salem is secretary.

Mrs. Virginia Sanders, clerk in the sanitation department, requested a six-month leave of absence which the county board refused.

Walter Tschabold, president, presiding at last night's meeting. Attending were Howard M. Cole, Stewart Curtis, and Dr. T. A. King.

Boy, 6, Is Injured In Two-Car Crash

A six-year-old Salem boy received lacerations of the scalp when the car in which he was riding was involved in a minor collision on the Pigeon Road Monday at 2:45 p.m. He was treated at the Central Clinic.

The boy, Kenneth Palmer, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Palmer of 608 Cherry St., was riding in a car driven by his father, 31, when it struck the rear of an auto driven by Creeta Frost, 55, of North Lima.

Palmer was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance ahead.

Airliner Falls Into Sea Near New Guinea

12 Persons Saved; 11 Bodies Recovered By Rescue Boats

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — A Dutch airliner plunged into the sea off northwest New Guinea before dawn today. By early afternoon hope was being abandoned for finding alive any of 56 persons listed as missing.

There were 17 children aboard the KLM plane and most were believed among the missing. At least one child was among the 11 passengers and one crew member—the stewardess—who were rescued.

Native boats and launches from the Dutch destroyer Kortenaar searching the area for survivors recovered 11 bodies.

Developed Engine Trouble Dr. I. A. Aler, president of KLM airlines, said on the basis of information available, it appeared the plane developed engine trouble and made a forced landing on the ocean.

He said hope had almost been given up of finding alive any of the missing.

KLM listed the nationalities of the missing as 53 Dutch and 3 Britons.

Four of the survivors were seriously injured.

The Lockheed Super-Constellation, carrying 53 passengers and a crew of 9, plunged into 600 feet of water shortly before dawn five miles off Biak Island. One early report said the plane was in flames when it crashed but a KLM communique did not mention a fire.

Plane on Regular Flight The plane, the Neutron, was on a regular flight to Amsterdam by way of Manila, Jakarta, Bangkok, Rangoon, Karachi, Beirut and Rome.

Most of those board were civil servants or navy men and their families.

Biak Island is the largest of the Schouten group off the northern coast of Western New Guinea, a Dutch colony.

The airline announcement said the plane "came down into the sea shortly after takeoff from Biak. No further details are known yet about the . . . circumstances of the accident."

Lisbon Council Lets Furnace Contract

LISBON — Village Council Monday night awarded a contract to A. J. Blockson, Lisbon heating contractors, to furnish two gas furnaces for Village Hall at a total cost of $3,620.

Bids were opened at noon Monday. Blockson's was the only bid received.

The contract covers two gas furnaces, $1,300; sheet metal for ducts, $700; registers, $120; plumbing and wiring and controls, $300; and man hours for installation, $1,200.

Council also approved a budget of $224,386 for 1958. Anticipated receipts from the general fund were estimated at $81,000 and from 11 other funds, $143,386.

Mayor Wilbur Warren advised Council the village received $3,946 in fines and costs during June. A total of $1,345 was paid to the state of Ohio for its share of the fines. He said he heard 131 cases, 77 state patrol cases, 47 village and 5 county cases. Two cases were bound over to the grand jury.

House Recalls Budget Director

Hearing May Spur Tax-Cutting Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee recalled Budget Director Percival Brundage for a special hearing today that may spur a new congressional tax-cutting drive.

The committee wants to know, said Chairman Cannon (D-Mo.), what the Eisenhower administration proposes to do with the money it will have left over if it holds 1958 spending to 1957 budget levels.

Cannon said hurried estimates by committee staff experts indicate as unexpected surplus of about $2,900,000,000 if 1957 spending levels are adhered to in 1958.

In his annual budget message to Congress last January, President Eisenhower estimated spending in 1958 at $71, 800,000,000 and the fiscal year-end surplus at $1, 800,000. Some congressional experts have estimated that the 1958 spending might go a billion dollars or more above Eisenhower's estimate.

Late last month, however, the President, through Brundage, told government agencies to hold their 1958 spending "at or below the level" of 1957 to the extent feasible.

Original estimates were that 1957 spending would be about $68, 900,000,000, but actual spending for the year that ended June 30 is expected to be closer to 70 billions.

Because of the secrecy surrounding the "downhold" order of June 28, some Democrats suspect that the administration is planning to jump the gun on the Democratic Congress and come out soon for a tax cut.

"We want all the information we can get about this new directive," Cannon told reporters after top committee Democrats decided Monday to quiz Brundage.

If the evidence shows that the government can get along in 1958 on the same budget it had in 1957, the committee could move to rescind some of the appropriations Congress already has made on the basis of a larger budget.

Or the surplus could be reduced by cutting taxes.

Convicted Canton Slayer To Appeal

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Harry Dale Bundy, convicted in a holdup slaying, said he feels "my chances of getting a new trial are pretty slim."

But the 40-year-old Zanesville man added at the conclusion of a hearing on a new trial motion Monday:

"My lawyers and I will appeal the case and feel we stand a good chance of getting an appeal."

Common Pleas Judge John Rosetti has asked both sides for briefs on the new trial motion, which was filed on the basis of "newly found evidence." The judge said he would make his decision in several days.

Monday defense attorneys presented witnesses to contradict trial testimony of Miss Martha Warnack, 14. The girl said she saw Bundy and Russell McCoy, 22, of Zanesville at the Uniontown, Ohio, grocery where two men were shot to death. McCoy, who testified against Bundy, is under indictment in the double killing Nov. 23.

Mrs. Kay Priestor of Uniontown said she was in the grocery shortly before the holdup and did not see Bundy or Miss Warnack and her girl friends there.

Brain Tumors

Mr. C. R., in asking for a discussion of brain tumors, wishes to know whether an operation for same is considered serious, what are the symptoms and whether brain tumors can be discovered by X-rays.

These are all important questions. The first can be answered definitely and quickly: such operations are serious.

It was not long ago that nothing could be done for a person who developed a brain tumor. In the last 50 years, however, great progress has been made in surgery of the nervous system, including the brain. Today, in many instances, highly skilled brain and nerve surgeons can remove brain tumors successfully.

Now, the reply to Mr. R.'s second question is difficult. A brain tumor may lie almost anywhere inside the skull and may vary greatly in size. Consequently, the symptoms of a brain tumor are by no means always alike. They depend on just where the tumor is located, the size, its rate of growth and other factors.

Occasionally, a brain tumor may produce difficulties in swallowing. In other cases, the symptoms may involve the hearing, the eye-sight, or muscular coordination in one part of the body or another. Headache is a fairly common symptom of brain tumor and so is persistent vomiting, but both may be absent.

4 Fined For Selling Liquor On Sunday

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Selling beer and liquor on Sunday cost four Austintown Twp., persons $100 apiece.

Justice of the Peace Ivan Jacobson levied the fines Monday after a plea of guilty to illegal sales by John R. Scott, 47, operator of the Cozy Corners on Ohio 18 in Milton Twp., and Margaret Murray, a barmaid there; and Hazel Frank and Mary A. Jones, of the Seven Mile Inn on Ohio 18.

The arrests were made by state liquor enforcement agents.

Less Poverty To Share

Behind all the guesswork about Russia's political shuffles stands an ominous fact in economics.

Since 1917, Russia has gained staggering stature as a world power capable of doing vast damage to other nations. But the Russian people have not improved their living standards under one-party dictatorship.

The unrest which shows itself in political rearrangements and outbursts of blame has its origin in the chronic poverty of the population of Russia and its satellites.

The rearrangements all have as their stated purpose some degree of improvement in living standards. All of them are related to the problem of how to put enough wealth into armaments to make the Soviet Union strong without taking so much wealth away from the people that they become weaker.

The promises made by the politicians all concern the same hopeful goal—that if a few more political figures are juggled there will be less poverty for the Russian people and their dependents to share.

It is a fair question 40 years after the Bolshevik revolution and the counter-revolution which followed whether there has been any net gain in living standards. The only visible beneficiary of industrialization has been the armed forces, in line with the obsession of Communist leadership that their dictatorship is about to be attacked.

Squabbles among Communist politicians are not over their successes but their failures — not over their successful attempts to make the Soviet Union military strong but their failure to build strength among the Russian people. Russia was not self-sufficient as a military power in World War II and still is not capable of supporting its own population.

Nobody Missing

New York City has been reduced to the world's third largest city, thanks to a statistical monstrosity that it shares with other U.S. cities. It, too, can count only residents who live inside the municipal compound.

London and Tokyo, now apparently larger, count all residents who live either inside or outside the compound. This now is the practice of the U.S. Census Bureau when counting noses in metropolitan areas, but only those persons living inside municipal boundaries are credited to the municipalities which residents of metropolitan areas call home.

It is not merely pride in relative size that puts this statistical monstrosity on the defensive. Money is a stake. New York City had taken a census in advance of the next federal census to establish a claim for more state tax revenue. Its officials knew it was growing. They knew there were more New Yorkers. But they did not know how many New Yorkers had moved to nearby places.

By 1960, when the Census Bureau makes its tally, still more will have moved. But there will be more New Yorkers than ever before, if there were a logical way to count them. A city is inhabitants, not an area bounded by imaginary lines.

Names For Bombers

It is unlikely that bomber - namers will think up anything better than Hustler, their inspired tag for the new twice - supersonic B-58.

Hustler makes Flying Fortress, Marauder, Banshee, Mustang, Wildcat, Avenger and even the famous British Spitfire sound unimaginative by comparison.

In the light of the revelation that this workable plan with its incredible speed and detachable fuel and bomb section is only the beginning of a new breed of bomb carriers that will be almost as agile as pursuit planes, a list of new names will be needed.

If all of them are to be chosen with the same characteristics in mind as these indicated by Hustler — Boomer, Thruster, Tapper, Rapper, Slapper, Flapper, Thumper, Banger, Slammer, Dasher, Puncher, Whacker and Lunker would be ideal.

Or the bomber - namers may have to choose the thing that goes faster than anything hitherto-known in the entire history of mankind — a small raise in a period of rising prices — the Whoosh.

There Was A Lady

Grace Goodhue Coolidge had dropped out of the news in recent years. Many of her countrymen were surprised to read about her death at the age of 78. They are the ones we would like to tell about Calvin Coolidge's widow.

She was a lady in the American lexicon, which is nothing like the English meaning. In our lexicon, a lady is a woman of unusual quality — the kind of a woman Mrs. Coolidge was. She had poise, wit, charm and a way of handling herself in the White House that made her countrymen feel proud of her and proud of themselves.

In short, if we were going to define a lady in the American lexicon, Grace Goodhue Coolidge would be among the examples.

Budget Above Politics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Eisenhower Acts To Avoid Dangerous Inflation

There's more than meets the eye in President Eisenhower's recent directive to all government bureaus to hold down spending.

It isn't any deep plot to take political credit from the Democrats for their efforts to play the role of economicizers. Nor is it a contradiction of what the administration has been saying and aiming at right along.

The trouble with political Washington these days is that it can't see the economic forest for the political trees.

It is so interested in individual ambition and party advantage that it is indifferent to the basic cause of the present trend toward a dangerous inflation—rise in prices due to the increase in labor costs and the fact that labor has not sufficiently augmented its productivity per hour.

Efficient labor today moreover is scarce and, in periods of full employment, productivity sometimes lags.

FUNDAMENTALLY both political parties have shied away from doing anything that would bring on a recession or depression.

Yet some overall readjustment is inevitable and the political impact of a drastic change in government spending policy depends on just when the climax in the readjustment process comes and what areas of the country are adversely affected.

For it is certain that as government spending is substantially cut, the wheels of the nation's economy will be slowed down, some unemployment will be created and wage and price levels will be held steady.

If a tax reduction takes effect concurrently with the drop in government spending and tends to offset the downward spiral in business, the ultimate result will be a sound economic condition. In the interval there will be some painful losses.

Wherever such adversity occurs the party in power will find the voters registering their protest at the polls irrespective of previous party allegiance.

THE PRESIDENT'S directive was not conceived as part of a political program. Politically the usual course is to acquiesce in more and more inflation and more and more spending and to disregard budget balancing.

What Mr. Eisenhower has done, however, is to set a limit of 70 billion dollars on this year's budget which is a cut from the $71,800,000,000 estimated in his message of last January.

His directive issued in the last two weeks is really aimed at the fiscal year starting July 1, 1958, when it is hoped to hold government spending to the same figure of 70 billion dollars. Budgets have to be planned long in advance.

But the decision to reverse now the long-range trend has been taken. The administration, however, will have to be prepared to pay for this politically in 1958 in certain regions of the country which will be affected.

The controversy over this year's budget took an unfortunate turn early this year when the economy acts were wielded against the military program and the mutual security projects that support American defense abroad.

THIS WAS truly dangerous to international policy. The administration was rightly concerned that the House would sabotage these two programs but now the action of the Senate in restoring vital appropriations has encouraged the hope that attention can be directed to where it should have been directed all along—to the non-defense parts of the national budget.

Many domestic projects can be postponed. Some can be abandoned without doing permanent damage. But Congress hitherto has shown an unwillingness to cut non-defense items. There is always pressure for more spending in that category.

What the President did with his directive was really to take an action that is routine in a procedural sense — to order the bureaus to hold the line for this year and keep within the same figure next year.

But the step takes on added significance and urgency now. For it looks as if there will be a budget balance in the current fiscal year — ending June 30 next — of at least two billion dollars because revenues are much better than anticipated. If Congress wants to cut on the non-defense side the administration will go along and agree to a tax cut, effective during the calendar year 1958.

It is plainly evident that the administration has concluded it can expect no help from either big business or big unionism in restraining the wage-price spiral.

IT IS EVIDENT also that the Federal Reserve Board can do little to check the inflation merely by letting interest rates rise and curtailing credit.

Only one thing is going to stop the inflation and stabilize the purchasing power of the dollar for a while and that's a recession. This means some unemployment.

It will perhaps also halt the use of "escalator" clauses in labor contracts because, as living costs go down, wages will have to drop and that's unpopular with the unions. "Escalator" clauses have been likened to the human elbow—they flex only one way and that's up.

So the outlook now is for a "readjustment" something in 1958. The question of whether the Republicans or Democrats will benefit from this is related to how severe the changing conditions become and whether a tax reduction — concurrent with a drastic curtailment of spending — will bring the expected rebound or recovery before or after the congressional elections in November, 1958.

NEW YORK — Businessmen don't change the words they use quite as fast as teen-agers. But change they do. And an old timer is lost today if he isn't hep.

Remember when "business cycle" meant boom and bust? Those words make the squeamish squirm today. Now we say "adjustment" if it's our business, and maybe "rolling readjustment" if it's the other fellow's.

Once we talked only of "supply and demand" as setting the price of goods and the price of labor. Now the economists, especially the political ones, talk about "administered prices" set by management regardless of supply and demand, and of "administered wages" as contracted for without regard for the productivity of the labor or for the demand for the products to be made.

Or the disciple of semantics speaks of "managed economy," where domestic or international politics call for high output and high prices for commodities for which the demand may be meager and falling.

Once upon a time people got cold feet and stock prices skidded. But the market analyst today often calls this a "technical correction," or even "preparing the base for a new rise."

People now living can remember when Americans weren't disturbed by hearing their way of life called "capitalism." But right after the war all the better orators in business dropped that phrase and took up "free enterprise" instead.

Maybe your father chewed his pencil figuring out his "profit and loss" statement. Your son talks about a "cost-price squeeze on the profit margin" and "product cost accounting."

A "net loss" used to be a real tragedy which you tried to hide from your wife as long as you could, or until the neighbors told her. Now it may help on next year's taxes (or last year's) or even make you look so glamorous someone will buy your business.

All very wonderful in this age of "profitless prosperity."

Free-Wheeling Probes At End?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — The era of free-wheeling congressional investigations of communism apparently is at an end.

Twice in this century, each time after a world war, this country has gone through an emotional Red-hunting phase. The first petered out. The second was slowing down and the courts put a further brake on it.

Atty. Gen. A. Mitchell Palmer led the Red raids after World War I, when this country was worried about the spread of communism. That was also a period of anti-Negro, anti-Jewish, anti-Roman Catholic feeling.

Congressional committees resumed the Red hunting on a big scale after World War II. They got public support and added impetus through their disclosures that Communists, past or present or suspected, had gotten into the government.

The committees became increasingly free-wheeling: in the ground they covered, the questions they asked, and in their disregard for individuals and their rights to privacy, thought and association.

The Red-hunting began to recede after the Senate condemned some actions of the late Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) although not specifically his tactics in Red-hunting. The censure motion was based largely on the way he treated senators.

Last month the Supreme Court said whoa to the committees. Taking his cue from this, Federal Dist. Judge Luther A. Youngdahl said the same thing last week.

The high court threw out the contempt of Congress conviction of John T. Watkins, who told the House Committee on Un-American Activities he had never been a Communist but, for a while, co-operated with Communists.

He talked freely about himself but balked at questions about people he knew who might have been Communists. Youngdahl threw out the same kind of conviction against Seymour Peck, New York newspaperman.

He told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee he once had been a Communist but he refused to discuss his associates.

Neither man claimed the protection of the First Amendment against self-incrimination. Both relied on the First Amendment's protection of free speech, opinion and association. Boiled down, their position was this: the committees' questions about people they knew in the past were fishing expeditions, serving no public purpose.

The rulings of the Supreme Court and of Youngdahl said in effect: If such committees in the future expect to get people convicted for contempt of Congress, because they refuse to answer questions, then:

1. Congress must say precisely what the committees are supposed to be investigating. Right now the authorization given them is so broad it's like a hunting license for shooting in any direction.

2. When the committees ask questions — and want a witness convicted for not answering — they must ask questions pertinent to the inquiry they're making. That is, they must have a purpose that is clearly in the public interest and not be just a fishing expedition.

Youngdahl further made the point that refusal to answer under the First Amendment questions which seem to intrude on privacy is not an absolute right. For instance, it must be weighed against national security, when that security is really involved.

But congressional investigations that violate the protection of the First Amendment, when national security or the public welfare is not involved, are something else again.

Congress may do nothing to comply with the Supreme Court's ruling. The court has no power to make it comply. But, unless it does, its ability to get answers from witnesses, under threat of conviction for contempt, is seriously limited.

And if Congress doesn't comply, future witnesses, fully aware of what the courts have now said, no doubt will refuse to answer in cases like those of Watkins and Peck. They can do that with pretty good confidence nothing will happen to them.

Election System No Accident

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Take it from Secretary of State Ted W. Brown: Ohio's model election system is no accident.

Revision of voting laws to the extent that they are copied by other states came about largely through the "grass roots" efforts of local election officials, Brown asserts.

They are the members of county election boards, their clerks and other employees and officials who help keep Ohio's free elections clean and efficient.

When Brown became the state's chief elections officials in 1951, he encouraged suggestions for much-needed revision of complex election statutes. He set up a traveling office to meet election officials throughout the state and fostered an annual conference to exchange ideas.

This summer's conference will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Cleveland. About 350 plan to attend. The gathering is in addition to the annual winter conventions of the Ohio Assn. of Election Officials.

Major conference business includes preparation for the election in November of county judges who will start serving next year.

The last Legislature created the judgeships to replace justice of the peace courts. County judges will serve outside municipal court areas. Some municipal courts serve an entire county.

Brown explained that the problem is complicated because some counties use voting machines, others do not. Some counties also require voters to register, others don't.

"This meeting, our traveling office programs and bi-monthly bulletins," Brown said, "are responsible for Ohio's recognized leadership in better election laws and procedures."

During his first term, Brown helped hammer suggestions into laws for better elections. Three legislative sessions back, the lawmakers extensively revised Ohio's election code. Successive Legislatures made other refinements.

The last Legislature during Brown's fourth term made changes 9 p. m. (EST) for the close of final-day voter registrations starting next year.

Allow voters expecting to be medical or surgical patients in a hospital on election day to east absentee ballots for the first time. Prevent unsuccessful primary nominees from becoming write-in candidates at the following general election.

Require the names of candidates to appear on petitions before they are circulated.

Allow single "X" voting for a slate of candidates to national party conventions pledged to a single choice.

Permit disabled (not indigent) voters to accept help in marking ballots.

Abolish a requirement that boards provide one voting machine for each 100 electors.

Elimination of the requirement, Brown said, leaves it up to boards to provide sufficient machines and booths for paper ballot marking. He said boards are attempting to revise precincts to accommodate about 250 voters each.

It takes about 130,000 booth workers, tabulators and other employees to help boards conduct elections, Brown estimated.

The four-member boards in all 88 counties are each composed of two Democrats and two Republicans. Clerks must be of a political faith different than the board chairman.

Board members are paid on the basis of county population. Salaries range from $66 to $5,000 annually. Boards set their clerk's pay which ranges up to $12,000 a year.

What! Another Jackpot Quiz?

The TV big-money jackpot quiz is getting out of hand. Jack Barry, who is to the superdooper quiz show what the Shueberts were to stein songs and the Rockefellers to the oil business, is out with a new one.

He is now entitled to a cash prize if he can always answer, without checking, the question: "What program is this one?"

He is spreading himself pretty thin, in fact, it can be said that there is Barry on TV as often as station identification.

NBODY IS BETTER at it, but he is close to becoming a corporation in restraint of trade. His latest is called "High-Low." It combines "Twenty-One" with the panel motif, but it is hard to be sure whether you are watching another quiz show or "What's My Line."

(Throw in a ukelele, a cake-mix and a crooner and you have a Godfrey program with a Fort Knox background.)

THIS QUIZ SHOW is just a variation of all the others, and more involved. Each member of the panel states the number of parts of a given question he can answer. The contestant decides whether to match the high or low estimate.

This is a long way around a given point and constitutes the detour of the year in quiz show routines. It slows up the act and makes it suffer from an overexposure of the intellect.

Smartness in big doses is not easy to take. It hurts the average man to see a large group of "brains," clam, eager, self-confident and well paid.

Most TV fans prefer to think that on the best quiz show there is plenty of ignorance. This is knocked in the head by the new Barry format.

THERE SHOULD BE at least one panel member with a rep for ignorance and who will not let it be destroyed after having built it up with care all his life.

The show reveals that there is ANOTHER Van Doren. This is John, a brother of Charles, and TV audiences are beginning to wonder what New York's total Van Doren population is and whether it is behind the biggest family act outside of the trapeze world.

John is extra personable, quick on the trigger and bleeds less than brother Charlie during the ordeal.

THE SHOW MARKED the debut of Burl Ives as a super intellect. This was a surprise to TV folks who had come to think of him as wholly a "Blue Bottle Fly" man, a singer of back-country folk songs, far from the mood of the library, the college campus and the offices of the Britannica.

Burl went into a song during the show. Here's a new trend. We look for a jackpot show on which a bank vice president does hand springs, eats fire and whistles through his teeth.

With an ultimate program where a $50,000 question is brought on by a troupe of elephants, opened by a trained sea lion and read by the leader of a calypso band. Barry marches on!

MARILYN MONROE, ecstatic over her husband, Arthur Miller's new 210-acre farm in Roxbury, Conn., says she won't miss Hollywood. . . . "We have a whole ridge up there and it's wonderful," she declares. . . . You wanna bet?

Roxbury is one of the loveliest little towns in all New England and, nestled in the everlasting hills hard by picturesque Roxbury Falls, it bats high in the rural box scores. . . . But it is a terrific broad jump from Hollywood and Broadway, and about as far from them in mood as you can get. It is a tranquil community of farms, hay wagons, loving herds and even an occasional horse and buggy.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

That fashionably modern national AFL-CIO headquarters in Washington, which soothes its employees with canned music, may soon have some of its field organizers for ruffling the nerves of labor's high command.

These field organizers, who themselves have called many a strike, may be put out of the AFL-CIO for launching a union of their own, adopting the name of the Field Representatives Federation, hiring a lawyer and secretly planning a convention which may decide to picket AFL-CIO headquarters all over the U.S. if denied recognition.

With summertime whimsy, fate has reversed casting for the national labor leaders — and their help is giving them enough headaches to qualify the unionists for membership in the American Management Assn.

The non-clerical union employees are restless. They want a union of their own.

SOME TIME AGO they organized one quietly. They got so much response that they printed up membership cards for the Union of Union Employees.

Their bosses, acting like any garden variety employer, found out and piped word out that any union technician or organizer joining this union would be fired.

This Union of Union Employees died quickly though it had real promise. There are 10,000 such employees in the nation's labor offices. It would have made a strong international outfit, despite its relatively small size.

Its organizers were surprised when they discovered that there were only 10,000 such workers and thought that perhaps some unions were concealing the actual figures.

Research revealed that more than 50,000 local unions have no clerical help or paid officials. But the 10,000 figure was a good enough base, they thought. Their chiefs thought differently.

THE UNION was abortive, but the idea didn't die with it. About a year ago, the national AFL-CIO headquarters organizing staff began planning a union because it had grievances — just like the ordinary mortals they unionized on the "outside." There were about 250 such national AFL-CIO organizers.

They developed some mighty human resentments when their genial chief showed some business-like instincts. He wanted efficiency.

He developed an efficiency rating of his own. He wanted results — namely new members. In the outside world, they'd call it production.

Jack Livingston, AFL-CIO director of organization, was slightly miffed when he learned that one organizer decided he wouldn't work on Saturdays — you know, a five day week is the vogue.

Another organizer goofed off on an assignment by holing up in a motel for a week and sending in reports on devoted activity to the cause. Some of the goofers-off were laid off.

BUT SOME of the AFL-CIO field men had real gripes. Shortly after the merger of the two great labor outfits, the national headquarters instituted a differential system in per diem allowances for northern and southern organizers — for which any employer would find himself in labor's deep freeze.

Southern organizers were paid less than the northern gladiators. They exploded. They ran to the brass. They said it was a weird thing to be doing exactly what they blasted industry for doing. The order was finally rescinded.

But some of the organizers were told that the AFL-CIO budget just couldn't take such a pay load. It isn't generally known but the national AFL-CIO headquarters is the poor relative of the big, wealthy unions.

There were other grievances — just like on the outside. Organizers found themselves suddenly shifted to areas far away from their homes. There wasn't enough "moving money" for setting the family up in new cities. They had no real job security and could be fired, as some were, without anyone fighting for them.

In some instances, they were blamed for incompetence but really couldn't do much, especially in the wave of the bitter public reaction to the Senate hearings. Finally, a few months ago, labor's high command discussed the right of the organizers to launch their own union. The AFL-CIO Executive Council said that these men already were members of unions.

JUST LIKE George Meany, a Plumbers Union card carrier, national secretary — treasurer Bill Schnitzler, a Baker, and organizing director Livingston, an Auto Union official, on leave.

The organizers argued that they were AFL-CIO employees, drawing their pay from the national headquarters and had the rights of outside citizens. They could, they in-

Dean Of 'Jump Swing'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—William Basie, a man upon whom immortality has smiled in his own lifetime, believes in living every day as if it were Saturday night.

"I've never been bored," said Bill, better known as Count Basie, dean of "jump swing," who will be 53 next month and has been pounding a piano longer than he can remember.

The Count, a natural genius at his type of music, is the son of a Red Bank, N.J., caretaker. He took only a few 25-cent lessons as a boy, rocketed to the top of the jazz world more than two decades ago, and stayed there ever since.

His band, named as "the best" four years in a row in a poll of critics made by Downbeat Magazine, has made three trans-Atlantic tours. It recently completed an extended engagement at the Waldorf-Astoria, the first Negro band to be featured at that swank Park Avenue hostelry.

Basie has survived the post-war jinx that struck down many big name bands, but if you ask him how he has remained on top for so long, the Count replies as if surprised:

"The top? That's the place we're scuffling to reach. The big problem is to hold on to what you've got."

The Count is a man who likes his gin straight and takes life the same way. He expresses himself best in rhythm, not in words, and he speaks with a cautious modesty and invariable courtesy.

"If I've learned one thing," he remarked, "it's this: don't forget people. If you pass them going up, they're going to be still around, remembering, when you pass them going the other way."

The Count, composer of "The One O'clock Jump" and other hits, started as a $3 a night tune pouter in a Chinese restaurant on the New Jersey coast. He began to reach the big time in 1935 when he took over Benny Moten's band at the old Reno Club on 12th Street in Kansas City.

"They never closed the doors," he said. "Many oldtime jazz men think the musicians they played with in their youth—the fabulous players of the fabulous 1920s—have never been replaced. Not the Count."

"The kids today think much better," he said. "They're better technicians. Their brains are well advanced. They think faster. 'But the old song writers did seem to put more into their songs than you find in many songs written today. They wrote them on the wall to stay—and we're still going back to them.'"

The Count believes the greatest figures in jazz in his lifetime have been Duke Ellington "He is the golden arrow; he is the man," Satchmo Armstrong, Tommy Dorsey and Benny Goodman.

"And the greatest jazz tunes? 'Well, 'St. Louis Blues' is the all-time tune. That's the national anthem as far as I'm concerned. And 'Some of These Days' and 'Twelfth Street Rag,' and — I think I'll stop with them."

'Has Been' At 18; Doing Fine At 21

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the distinctions of Jimsey Somers is that she made her television dramatic debut in 1943. That's right, 1943, starting in the first televised NBC TV drama, "Miracle of Alice Lorraine."

The other day when a man questioned how many TV sets were in existence then, Miss Somers said, "Quite a few. They were in bars somewhere. I played a French war orphan, Frances Dee was my mother. Fred Coe (who became a distinguished TV producer) moved the furniture around the floor."

As a matter of fact, if old-time viewers will think back, Jimsey Somers was the first and best-known child star of television, a Shirley Temple of the pioneer home screen.

Currently she is playing the 17-year-old daughter of Madeline Carroll in "The Affairs of Dr. Gentry" series on NBC radio.

She also has frequent dramatic roles in TV dramas—as a teenager, to her credit.

She feels that her teen-age role in "The Affairs of Dr. Gentry" is intelligently developed. But she believes that TV dramas are tending to develop a cliché type of character in teen-age roles: Pony-tail hair-do, a squeaky voice, a jittery manner.

Jimsey took a long vacation from television and the stage after a truck knocked her off a bicycle when she was 13. For five years she attended the Brearley School and then studied acting for a time. "I was a has-been at 18," she says.

For a "has-been," however, she's doing very well at the advanced age of 21.

Lutherans To Hear
Talk By German Bishop

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Bishop Hans Lijfe of Hanover, Germany, president of the Lutheran World Federation, addresses the Great Lakes Regional Theological Conference at Wittenberg College here today.

At Monday's opening session, Bishop Gottfried Noth, bishop of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Saxony, East Germany declared that the church "lives in the midst of the world, and has manifold relationships with the world which constitute the ever present threat to her freedom."

These threats to freedom can come, he said, "to both the church which is free in all aspects of her external affairs, as well as to the church which must live without such freedom."

The conference here is one of seven preceding the third assembly of the Lutheran World Federation in Minneapolis, Aug. 15-25.

CATHOLIC PRIEST DIES
CLEVELAND (AP)—A Catholic priest who served pastorates in northeastern Ohio for more than 40 years died here Monday following a long illness. The Rev. Ignatius Piotrowski was ordained in Cleveland in 1904 and retired in the late 1940's. Pastorates in Youngstown, Lorain, Kingsville, Warren, Berea and Cleveland were included in his long career.

The National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. is composed of 30 separate denominations.

Also Asks Lower Price Supports

Benson Recommends Dropping Corn Planting Allotments

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson recommended to Congress today that corn—the nation's largest grain crop—be supported at lower price levels in the future and that planting allotments be dropped.

Benson proposed, beginning in 1959, to take corn out of the preferred price support and control category which also includes wheat, cotton, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

These are the six "basic crops" which have yielded great influence on farm legislation.

In a report requested by Congress, Benson said his recommendation would bring about a better long-term balance in the production of feed materials and livestock products. The secretary had been asked for ideas on improving feed grain programs.

In addition, Benson said, his proposal would move in the direction to produce, unfettered by allotments determined by rigid formulas.

Furthermore, he said, it would reduce costs to the government and assist in "meeting the public demand for economy in government."

Under present law corn, like the other basic crops, must be supported at between 75 and 90 per cent of parity, depending on supplies and needs. The larger the supplies in relation to needs, the lower the support may be.

But under Benson's plan, corn would be supported between zero and 90 per cent of parity, or between 60 and 90 per cent if Congress preferred, as might be determined by the secretary.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged them.

Under present law, other grains that compete with corn—oats, barley and sorghum grain—may be supported between zero and 90 per cent of parity. Benson would put corn in the same support class with them.

He also would eliminate corn planting allotments with which farmers must comply to be eligible for supports—thus putting corn in the same class as the other feed grains in this regard. The support level for corn would be determined first. Then the rate for other grains would be calculated on the basis of their comparable feeding value, location, storability and other factors.

This year's corn crop is to be supported at 77 per cent of parity and the other feed grains at 70 per cent—all at levels higher than would prevail under the secretary's recommendation.

Benson said lower supports would offer farmers less incentive to produce surpluses for government storage. Record surpluses of corn now exist.

The secretary said his recommendation would have these consequences for farmers:

1. Prices of feed grains and income of some commercial feed grain producers would be "some lower."

2. Livestock production would be increased in the intermediate future, and there would be the possibility that slightly lower livestock prices might result.

"However," Benson added, "net income of livestock producers might be as high or almost as high as under current support programs."

Benson said a production payment plan could be used to assure returns to feed producers, but he rejected it because, he said, it would be too expensive. He said the cost might run to 800 million dollars a year.

THE ARMY KEEPS ABREAST

In a future war, Army construction troops must have equipment, methods and techniques to build roads and airstrips in near-amazing times. The new equipment includes items such as special night-seeing devices and protective apparatus to make possible operations under all conditions at all times. Military and civilian specialists at the Army's Engineer Training Ground, Fort Belvoir, Va., are working on a speeded-up program to make some of these things possible. The "robot" tractor, being directed by soldier at right in photo below, is operated by a standard military radio. The portable shower delivers a deluge of water the instant a man contaminated with liquid propellants at a guided missile launching site stands on its treadle. The new sniperscope, a greatly improved version of the night viewing device introduced late in World War II, gives the foot soldier 'round-the-clock combat punch.

"Robot" tractor can be operated from 15 miles away.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Charles Wilsdorf

Mrs. Elizabeth (Lizzie) Kirtland Wilsdorf, 88, of MC 1, Salem, died of complications Monday at the Bee Rest Home in Salineville. She had been ill two years. She formerly owned and operated the Kirtland Millinery Store here with her sister, Miss Ada Kirtland.

She was a daughter of William and Henrietta Post Kirtland. She was a member of the Baptist Church.

Surviving a sister, Mrs. Laura Jones, and several nieces, all of Salem.

Her husband, Charles E. Wilsdorf, died in 1950. Her sister, Ada, and a brother, Joseph, also preceded her in death.

Service will be Thursday at 3 p.m. in the Stark Memorial with Rev. R. J. Hunter, pastor of the Baptist Church, officiating.

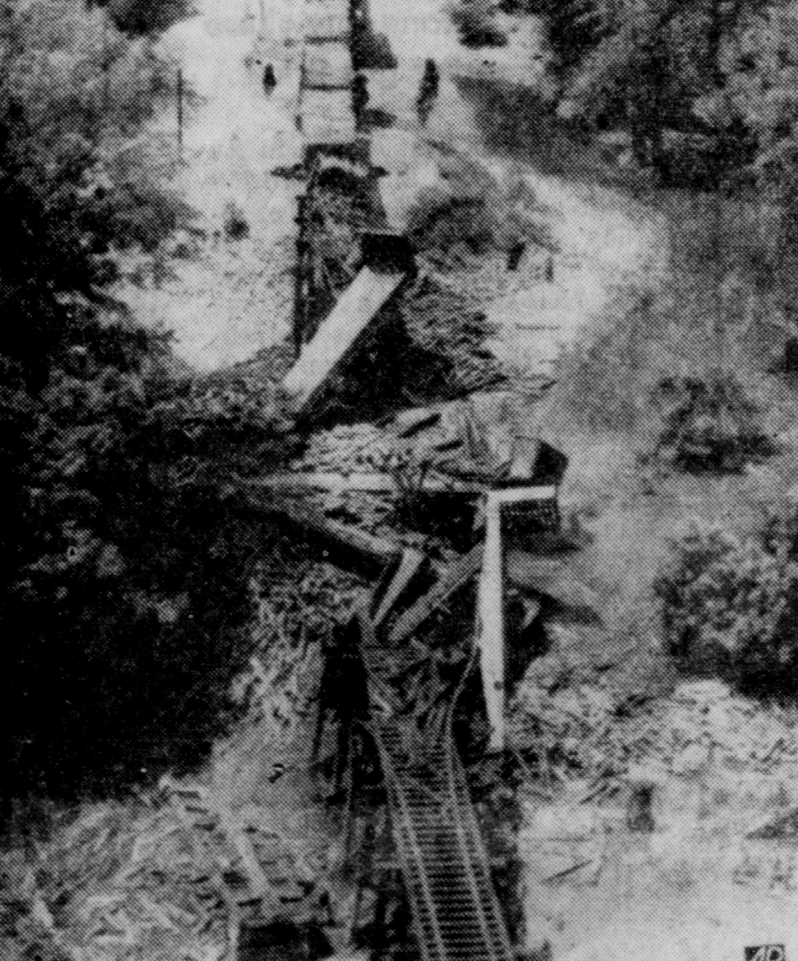

Burial will be in Hope Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Memorial from 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Frank Reichenbach

Word has been received of the death of Rev. Frank Reichenbach of Fort Wayne, Ind., formerly of Winona. He had been ill several years.

A retired Friends minister, he died.

BRIDGE COLLAPSES UNDER FREIGHT—Ten freight cars carrying logs are plunged into a small lake at Crossett, Ark., when a bridge collapsed under its weight. A 50-year-old fisherman, buried under the debris, was killed, but his two sons and a nephew were rescued by other fishermen.

Mrs. Mildred White

Mrs. Mildred Rigby White, 55, former Salem resident, died suddenly Saturday at Jacksonville Beach, Fla.

Born 1902 in East Liverpool, she was the daughter of Thomas and Molly Rigby.

Survivors include her mother and a sister, Mrs. Irma Resser, both of Jacksonville Beach, and another sister, Mrs. Eloise C. Henry of Alliance.

Rev. R. J. Hunter will officiate at graveside services Wednesday at 11 a.m. in Grandview Cemetery.

The body is at the Stark Memorial but there will not be calling hours.

Nick Tatu

Nick Tatu, 77, of 515 N. Union Ave., died at 8:50 a.m. today at City Hospital.

The body is at the Stark Memorial pending funeral arrangements.

Joseph R. Wilson

COLUMBIANA — Joseph Ross Wilson, 86, of 322 Union St. died of complications at 5 p.m. Monday at Salem City Hospital following a nine-year illness.

Born in Clarion County, Pa., Oct. 21, 1870, he was the son of James and Matilda Wilson.

A farmer and carpenter in the Greenford area, he had resided in Columbiana 15 years. He was a member of Allen Lodge, F. & A.M.

His only survivor is his wife, Joanna White Wilson, whom he married May 28, 1902.

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. Thursday at the Seelye-Bell Funeral Home here with Rev. A. R. Brown of the Methodist Church officiating. Interment will be in Rehoboth Cemetery, Clarion, Pa.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday evening.

U. S. May Provide NATO With A-Weapon Stockpile

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States is studying the possibility of providing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization with a stockpile of atomic weapons.

This is a possible answer, Dulles made clear at a news conference, to the objection of some European allies that a cut-off in atomic weapons production under a disarmament program would deny them such weapons permanently. Britain and France especially have indicated such fears.

Dulles said he thinks it would tive. He was defeated for the 1915-1917 term.

In 1920 he won the Democratic presidential nomination. During a vigorous four-month campaign, he sometimes delivered 20 addresses a day in arguing fiercely for U.S. participation in the League of Nations.

Beaten By Harding

He carried only the Solid South, however, and was decisively beaten by Harding.

He entered the publishing field in 1898 when he purchased the then-dying Dayton Daily News, and always considered himself a newspaperman first, despite his success in politics.

Disappointed at his loss in the presidential race, Cox left active politics and even refused appointment to the Senate in 1945.

But his dedication to the major issue of the presidential campaign—the League of Nations—never dimmed.

On the eve of his 75th birthday in 1945, Cox said of World War II, then drawing to a close: "This war did not need to be. The conviction of that fact will grow as we demonstrate that an outlaw nation cannot run at large, and that disputes can be settled without resort to war."

"Time will reveal even more clearly than it has already done that the conspiracy which wrecked the project for peace after the first World War was the most tragic and sinful chapter in our history."

In 1893, Cox married his first wife, Mayne L. Harding of Cincinnati. They had two children, James Jr. and John. In 1910 the couple was divorced and in 1917 Cox married Margaretta Blair of Chicago. Two daughters, Anne and Barbara, were born to the second marriage.

Cox's death was met by eulogies from a number of his associates.

In New York, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said she was "very sad" to hear of his death.

James Farley, former postmaster general, said:

"I was grieved to learn of the death of Gov. Cox. I knew him intimately and well for many years. I was the beneficiary of his advice and wise counsel while chairman of the Democratic National Committee. He was a truly fine American—a great statesman. He was a most successful publisher who made many fine contributions."

In Ohio, Gov. C. William O'Neill said of Cox that "his great contributions for good will live forever. His wise counsel and valuable influence will be sorely missed by his legion of friends in the whole nation." He said Ohio "has lost one of her truly great men is the passing of Gov. James M. Cox."

At Akron, newspaper publisher John S. Knight said:

"James M. Cox was a man of very great ability. He made many notable contributions to journalism and to his country."

Cox's son, James M. Cox Jr., a former director of The Associated Press, said no organizational changes are contemplated among the Cox newspapers. He said:

"We'll simply go along as we have been."

Besides James Jr., Cox is survived by his wife, Margaretta Cox, Dayton, his other son, John, New Rochelle, N.Y.; two daughters, Mrs. Barbara Glover, Honolulu, and Mrs. Anne Chambers, Atlanta, Ga.; and five grandchildren.

be more proper to set up a NATO stockpile than to hand weapons over to individual countries.

He said he thinks the NATO atomic arsenal could perhaps be created without a change in U. S. law by placing it under the command of Gen. Lauris Norstad as the American military chief in Europe. Norstad is also NATO commander.

Dulles covered these points at his first question-and-answer session with reporters in two weeks:

1. The rulers of Russia are "perplexed" over how to meet the demand of the Soviet people for greater freedom and better living. This perplexity caused the split in the Peridium in which Communist boss Khrushchev won out by a "narrow margin."

In Dulles' view it was a victory of the "modernists" in Russia over the "fundamentalists" who wanted to return to rule by Stalinist rod of iron.

passage of any bill, no matter how it is amended.

Sen. Long (D-La.) told the Senate Monday that passage of a "bad" civil rights bill would be likely to retard the progress of the Negro in the South.

"Far from helping the colored man, it will hinder his progress," he said. "Far from reducing prejudice, misunderstandings and resentment, it will increase these passions."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said the major issue involved in the legislation is the "free and unfettered right to vote."

He said those who were alarmed because the bill does not provide for jury trials in civil cases aimed at enforcing civil rights were indicating that somebody's right to vote was going to be violated and the violator hailed into court for contempt.

"The best way to eliminate contempt is to make certain that we are not contemptuous," he said.

Sen. Holland (D-Fla.) proposed a constitutional amendment to abolish state poll taxes. He said such a measure would go a long way toward insuring Negroes the right to vote.

FALSE TEETH

That Loosen

Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

nose. Others beat him about the body, he said.

The trial has now come to the fierce, passionate part of the Clinton story.

A witness quoted Alonzo Bullock, 50, carpenter and sometime preacher, as saying, "Unless they get the niggers out of Clinton High School, there's going to be some killed."

Others said they were assailed with—

"Let's kill the nigger-lovers . . . terrible, obscene words . . . things I wouldn't want to repeat here before a mixed audience."

Such testimony came from the government's witnesses, James Leo Burnett, 35, an industrial plant supervisor, and Sidney Davis, 39, Clinton lawyer. They both joined the Rev. Mr. Turner the day he escorted the Negroes to the high school.

"But words are not 'overt acts,'" Ross Barnett, defense lawyer from Jackson, Miss., argued, objecting to the relevance of what the accused men shouted that day.

U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor sat for a long moment, thinking. He puffed out his cheeks, shook his head and finally said: "Overruled."

DOGS CAUSE DIVORCE

LONDON (AP)—Oddies of poodles were blamed by 46-year-old John Lintern for the breakup of his marriage. Lintern told the judge Monday, his wife, Nancy, had 50 of the animals, gave them the run of the house and told him to get out when he protested that the place "smelled like a kennel."

To judge granted Lintern the divorce.

ROYAL SEND-OFF

Summer means camping for lots of kids — robust days followed by quiet nights around the campfires.

Give your son, daughter, or young friend a really special send-off to camp this year with a camera he can take along—to make a picture record of the summer fun.

What to give? The easiest way we know to get the kids started on a picture-taking career is with the new Brownie Star Cameras. They're as simple to use as any box camera, yet they take color slides as well as color and black-and-white snapshots.

The Brownie Starflex is light but tough so the kids can take it on rough and tumble exploring adventures without fear of breaking it. And it's small, fits-in-the-hand size is perfect for carrying anywhere. Nicest news is the price — only $9.95. (With flashholder attachment $10.50).

The Brownie Starflash is the same basic camera, but it has a convenient flashholder built right in the top. With the flash always handy, you can take pictures any time — indoors or out. Price? Only $8.50.

We have lots of cameras that will put a gleam in any camper's eye, so stop in this week and look them over. Later, we'd be glad to show your child or young friend how to get the most from his new camera.

Stepanic's Beats Parker's 11-8; Jets Down Lincoln 11-3

Marvels Forfeit At End Of Four

Eljer Is Defeated
By E. Furnace 10-2

Stepanic's beat Parker's in a slugfest 11-8, Jets downed Lincoln 11-3, and Electric Furnace defeated Eljer 10-2 in city softball league competition at Kelley Park Monday night.

Both Stepanic's and Parker's teams were red hot with the bats, rapping out 13 hits apiece. However, most of Stepanic's hits were for extra bases.

STEPANIC'S HAD A tremendous second frame when they pushed six runs across the plate after Parker's had taken a 2-0 lead at the end of the first.

Jack Myers had a perfect night at the plate for the winners, rapping out two hits in two tries, while Joe Carmelo and Joe Billet each had three for five for Parker's.

A close battle was rolling along between the Jets and the Lincoln Machine nine until the top of the fifth frame. At this point, with the Jets holding a 4-3 lead, the winners erupted for seven big markers.

THE JETS TALLIED first in the top of the first when Gardner walked and Hardy tripled, scoring Gardner. Poelen then singled, scoring Hardy. In the second frame, with one out, McCormick was safe on an error. With two gone, Odey walked and Detell singled, scoring McCormick.

Lincoln fought back in the bottom of the third to tie the game. Callatone and Ritchey walked, and with two away, Bill Crookston hit his fifth home run of the year over the left field fence.

The Jets went ahead in the fourth when Bertollette tripled and scored on Detell's single. In the fifth inning the winners scored their seven runs on four hits, a hit batsman, two walks and three errors.

FURNACE HAD LITTLE trouble in defeating the high flying Eljer squad. The losers, having one of those nights where they couldn't seem to do anything right, committed seven costly errors.

Furnace, playing good ball, smacked out seven solid hits and made only one error.

Jerry Cosgrove paced the victors with two hits in three trips to the plate.

In the first encounter of the evening, Marvels started with eight players. Trailing 6-1 at the end of four innings, they lost another man and had to forfeit the game. They were playing Bliss.

FIGHT POSTPONED
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cisco Andrade has postponed his comeback battle with former world lightweight champion Wallace (Bud) Smith, blaming a hand injured in training.

The fight, scheduled for next Thursday at the Olympic Auditorium, Monday was postponed to July 25.

By The Associated Press
Real quick now, who hasn't been in first place in that National League nonsense this season?

Only two clubs (New York Giants and Chicago Cubs) now that Philadelphia's long-frustrated Phillies have taken over by winning 12 of their last 14.

They grabbed a half-game edge

Professional Golfers Open Tournament

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The Professional Golfers Assn. Opens its 39th championship tournament Wednesday without the assurance there will be a defending champion.

Jack Burke Jr., winner of the PGA and Masters championships last year, planned to try out an injured left arm today and decide whether he will be able to start.

"I don't see any sense in going out there and playing just for appearance's sake," he said.

Burke had to quit the Open Championship last month after 36 holes because of an injury to his right hand. He hurt his left arm recently in a fall at his Houston, Tex., home. The arm has been giving him considerable pain.

Meanwhile, Gene Littler, one of the two pros who had been on a "standby" basis for this tournament, received an invitation to compete as a replacement for Jimmy Clark, who withdrew Monday because of illness.

That left pudgy Bill Casper next in line in case Burke withdraws. Littler and Casper came under a special provision, adopted by the PGA members last winter in an effort to make their tournament more attractive to the public but never fully explained.

The member pros, who really run the show, authorized the executive committee to invite a few pros who weren't eligible but were among the top money winners. But they didn't set up foolproof machinery and didn't anticipate that the increased prize money—$40,000 total and $8,000 for first place—would attract so many entries from players who were exempt from qualifying.

The result was that the PGA found itself with 134 qualified players for only 128 places in the all-match play tournament. It wasn't until spots were found for four players who had been cut off after qualifying that Littler could be given an invitation.

Among those who dropped out were three-time PGA champion Gene Sarazen, who decided he couldn't face the possibility of playing 162 holes in five days, and Jerry Barber of Los Angeles.

3 Tourney Tilts Set For Tonight

Old Dutch To Face Herron's Transfer

The Columbiana County Softball Tournament swings back into action tonight at Kelley Park with three outstanding skirmishes on tap.

The top attraction of the evening should be the battle between Old Dutch of Alliance, and Herron's Transfer, scheduled to get underway at 7:45.

Top hurlers Bill Herman and Leo Kline will pitch.

Old Dutch will pit the power of Bounce Grimes, Herb Williams and Charlie Klan against Herron's Tom Cope, Herry Ball, John Rotenborn, and Ben Roelen.

The opening game has a tourney darkhorse, Moore's Marauders, facing Parker's. Parker's Wayne Russell is in top form for tonight's fray. Parker's also boasts power hitters John Baker, Sam Pridon and Jim Laughlin.

Gig Moore's combine is a pick of the best in Pottersville. Pitcher John Clendenen probably will get the starting assignment after resting from a weary 12-inning stint against General Fireproofing of Youngstown. This tilt is slated to start at 6:30.

The Purity Dairy combine, eager for a trip to the state tourney, will play an all-star team composed of players from four local teams, Schwartz's, Fisher's, Sekely's and West End. Hurling for Purity Dairy will be Janet Reeder.

Standings for the tournament thus far are: Kenmar, 3-0; Eljer, 3-1; Herron, 3-1; Moore's, 2-1; Parker's, 2-1; Old Dutch, 1-1.

Teams who have been eliminated from the tourney are: Hendron's, 2-2; Lisbon, 1-2; Demings, 1-2; Westville, 1-2; Bloomberg's, 0-2; Merchants, 0-2; and Stepanic, 0-2.

Model Plane Contest
Scheduled Aug. 11

More than 100 model airplane enthusiasts are expected to enter the third annual model airplane contest sponsored by the Alliance Exchange Club Sunday, Aug. 11, at North Benton airport.

Ed Cross, contest director, announced that there will be four categories of competition in junior, senior and open divisions. These will include 1/4 A and A free flight, flight scale control line and control line precision aerobatics.

In addition there will be single channel and multi-control competition for radio controlled models.

Judges for the meet will be members of the Lake Erie Gas Model Club.

Donkey Baseball
Game Set Wednesday

Chappell's and the Salem Drive-In will play a donkey baseball game Wednesday evening at Kelley Park, with game time set for 8:30.

As an added attraction, a trick mule act will be conducted shortly before the game. Admission to the game will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children between six and 12 years of age. Proceeds will be used for Salem Softball Association activities.

Beginning at 5:45 a protested contest between Chappell's and the Drive-In will be played. The game is to start in the top half of the ninth inning with the score deadlocked at 4-4.

Hitting
Charlie Neal, Dodgers—hit two home runs and drove in three runs as Brooklyn walloped Braves 20-4.

Hot Stove Youth To See Indian Game

Salem youth will participate in the Ohio Hot Stove Leaguers Day which will be held at the Cleveland Stadium on Saturday at 2 p.m.

The Hot Stovers will be guests of the Cleveland Baseball Club, and will see the game between the New York Yankees and the Indians.

The boys will leave Salem at 10 a.m. They will take lunches and wear their uniforms. This trip is for all boys in the Salem Junior baseball leagues.

Arrangements are being made with the Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce to take all boys and girls that would like to go with the Salem group.

All persons interested in driving some of the youngsters to the game are asked to get in touch with John Herman Jr., league president, (ED 7-7717).

All drivers are admitted to the game free. Last year, the Salem Junior Baseball League sent over 300 boys to see the Indians play.

Score May Work Out Wednesday Afternoon

CLEVELAND (AP)—Herb Score and his new bride flew into Cleveland early today and the Cleveland Indians' star southpaw said he hopes his doctor will give him a go-ahead to work out Wednesday afternoon.

But the 24-year-old strikeout king doesn't believe he will be ready to pitch for the Tribe until mid-August. He anticipates a conditioning program tougher than spring training.

Score has been out of action since the night of May 7 when a line drive off the bat of Gil McDougald struck him in the right eye. His nose was fractured and the retina of the eye was swollen.

Pitching
Jack Sanford, Phillies—striking Cardinals 6-2 on five hits, striking out seven, for his 12th victory that hoisted the Phils into the National League lead.

Althea Wins In 1st Round Of Tourney

CHICAGO (AP)—Wimbledon champion Althea Gibson, determined to win her first major U. S. tennis title, put on a rousing performance Monday in the first round of the National Clay Courts Tournament.

The lanky star from New York City breezed past Lois Smith of Glenview, Ill., 6-0, 6-0, with grim determination.

The lack of confidence which has usually plagued her in big tournaments in this country was gone.

"She was sure of herself out there," said her coach Sid Lewellyn. "You don't bring a youngster from nowhere and beat a talented player. She (Althea) knew this."

All seeded players eased to victory with the exception of Neal Fraser, the No. 2 foreign seed from Australia. Fraser ran into trouble before disposing of Paul Wilkins of Beaumont, Texas.

Wilkins defeated Fraser 6-4 before the Aussie regained his form and took the last two sets, 6-3 and 6-4. The crowd was pleased with Wilkins' showing despite his numerous screams, moans and fits of anger, including slamming a ball over the fence after losing a point.

Top-seeded Herb Flam, the defending champion from Beverly Hills, Calif., was detained in New York for the finals in the Nassau Bowl Tournament which he won and will play his first round match today against William Cullen of Southport, Conn.

Second-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia also will play for the first time today when he meets William Guilfoil, Kansas City, in a second round match. Seixas drew a first round bye.

Ashley Cooper, the No. 1 foreign seed from Australia who finished second to Lew Hoad at Wimbledon, decisively defeated Barry Walraven, Omaha, Neb., despite a lack of clay courts experience, 6-2, 6-1.

The Reds' fifth place is only 2 1/2 games back of the league-leading Philadelphia Phillies, but Tebbetts said the statistics are a little misleading.

Program Set At Centennial Park

Arrangements Completed For 'Game Day' Wednesday

The Salem Park Commission will hold its annual "game day" Wednesday in Centennial Park beginning at 1:30 p.m., Lee A. Burton, superintendent of parks and recreation, announces.

Burton said playoffs will be conducted in each sport sponsored by the city playgrounds. He said each playground is picking its champion in each event and that these champions will compete for the city championships Wednesday.

Some of the events will include chess, shuffle hockey, horse shoes, ring toss, marble football, checkers, Old Maid, jump ball and box hockey, along with many others. Burton said the commission will sponsor an additional program of open races for all children who sign up. The competition in the other events is for respective playground champions only, but the races will be open to all children of age groups three to eight, eight to 10, and 10 and over.

Three-legged races, a backward race, a wheelbarrow race and a softball distance throwing contest are scheduled.

Awards will be given winners. The "game day" will end with a treasure hunt.

Swim Classes Held
The adult swimming class which meets on Tuesday and Thursday night of each week will meet tonight and Wednesday and Thursday nights from 9 to 10 this week. The classes are a joint project of the Park Commission and the American Red Cross and are open to all adults interested.

Tennis instructions for advanced players will begin tonight at 6:30. There will be two classes, each lasting 30 minutes. Anyone interested can sign up for either the 6:30 to 7 class or the 7 to 7:30 class.

The instructions will be given by Ralph Martin and will be held each Tuesday night.

Instructions for tennis beginners will start Friday at 10 a.m. The class will last one hour and will be taught by Miss Barbara Young.

THE RUSSIANS AND THE AUTOMOBILE

Everyone wants a car — everyone in the world, I suppose.

You can see it in the way the Russians are letting up on some of their production campaigns and putting on the pressure to get as many little Pobedas and Moskvitches as they can into the hands of the peasants.

They got some help, although unwillingly, from Germany. After the war, the Russians relieved an American-owned auto factory at Russelsheim of most of the dies and jigs which had been used to make a popular German car called the Opel Cadet. They called it war preparations.

So now the Opel turns up on the streets of Russia, looking a little forlorn and pre-war, as the Moskvitch, which means "Son of Moscow."

The Pobeda, which is pronounced Po-vee-dah, is, like the Moskvitch, a little four-cylinder car which, the experts tell me, is quite sturdy make. Its performance is uninspiring, for the Pobeda takes 34 seconds to accelerate to 60 miles an hour. A four-cylinder American car of similar price will do it in 18 seconds.

But millions of Russians are still waiting for their little Pobeda, a wait which no one has to go through here. A good used car, if you don't feel quite up to a new one, can be found for every income. And when you buy from a franchised new car dealer like ourselves, you know your future expenses on repairs will be kept down to a minimum.

You know what you're buying because we know, and know thoroughly, the car we're selling, such as this 1954 Pontiac Catalina Hard-Top. Beautiful two-tone finish, fully equipped, one local owner, $1,195.

Resolution No. 570702-42
Introduced by: Hanna
DECLARING IT NECESSARY TO IMPROVE THE HIGHLAND AVENUE FROM THE EXISTING PAVEMENT NORTH TO THE SOUTH LINE OF EAST TENTH STREET BY PAVING.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SALEM, OHIO: That it is necessary to improve Highland Avenue from the existing pavement north to the south line of East Tenth Street by paving as petitioned for by said property owners, said paving to consist of a slag base, asphalt top, concrete curbs and adequate drainage facilities.

SECTION 2.
That the grade of Highland Avenue as improved shall be essentially the grade of the present street, the width of said paving shall be 35 feet from the inside curb to inside curb and the grade of the curbs shall be a maximum of 5 inches above the finished center line grade of pavement.

SECTION 3.
That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Engineer and now on file in the office of the Director of Public Service be and the same are hereby approved.

SECTION 4.

3 Seek Columbiana Board Seats

Wilms, Esterly, Lehman To Run On Nov. 5 Ballot

COLUMBIANA — Three candidates are now entered for the three places to be filled Nov. 5 on the board of education. J. Paul Wilms is the newest entrant, Miss Estella Esterly, president of the board and whose term expires, is another candidate as is Dr. W. L. Lehman.

Wilms is a resident of the area east of Columbiana. He was a member of the Columbiana county board of education from Jan. 1 to October of last year.

The other two members of the board whose terms expire are Dr. K. P. Murphy and Wilbur Spanabel.

21 Permits Issued For New Building

Twenty-one building permits issued so far this month have totaled $882,250 in construction valuation.

Mayor Dean B. Crammer said today the figure brings the total construction costs for 1957 to within $136,017 of the total for the whole year of 1956.

Building in 1956 totaled $1,657,700 while thus far in 1957 a total of $1,521,683 has been estimated in new construction.

Permits this month have been issued to:

L. W. King, 1015 N. Ellsworth Ave., asbestos shingles on roof, $550; Valvoline Oil Co., 806 N. Ellsworth Ave., new gas station, $19,000; George and Jeanette Ziegler, 388 E. 3rd St., brick chimney, $250.

Mercury To Rise Above Normal In Central U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Weather Bureau said Monday its 30-day outlook for mid-July to mid-August calls for temperatures to average above normal in the central part of the United States from the Rockies to the Appalachians and also in the Far Southwest.

In the remainder of the nation below normal averages are indicated, the bureau said.

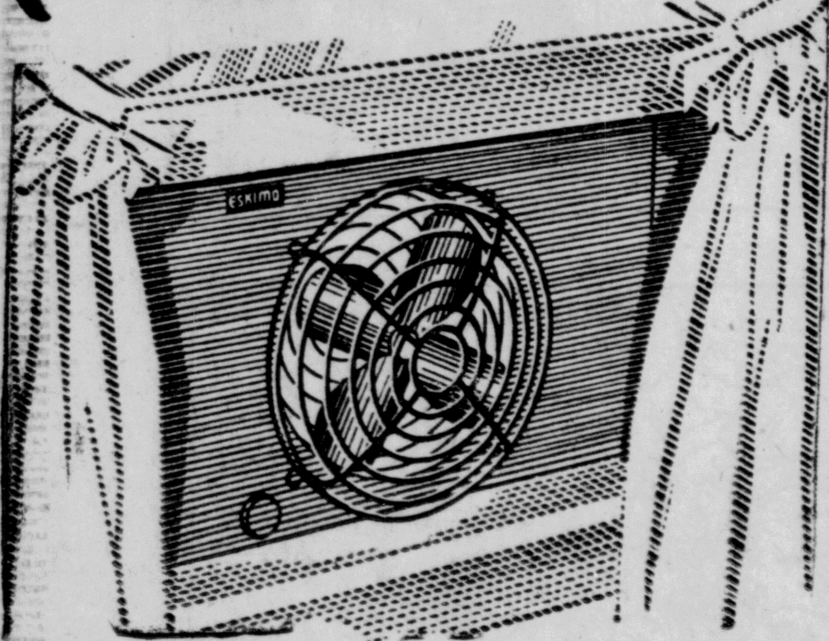

Precipitation is predicted to exceed normal in the Northern Plains, Rocky Mountain states, Pacific northwest and extreme southeast. Subnormal amounts are expected in the remainder of the country.

BEGINS PRISON TERM

CINCINNATI (AP)—Leroy Zimmer, 61, who pleaded guilty to defrauding the government on Korean War veterans' training while manager of a Hamilton business school, has surrendered to start a one-year prison term. Zimmer also paid a $15,000 fine Monday before starting his sentence.

Death Of Airline Hostess Probed

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A pretty airlines hostess was found dead in the trailer house of an osteopathic student here late Monday.

The cause of Miss Lucienne Colbrant's death was not known. An autopsy will be performed on the body of the 27-year-old Trans-World Airlines' employee, probably today.

Billy M. Sartin, 32-year-old junior at the Kansas City College of Osteopathy and Surgery, was held for investigation.

Sartin, of Oswego, Kan., told police he had known Miss Colbrant, a native of Brussels, Belgium, for a month. He said he examined her at his trailer Sunday and found she was about four months pregnant. Sartin denied that an illegal operation was performed on Miss Colbrant.

In Belgium, Miss Colbrant had been a theater and television comedienne two years.

Alliance Man Drops 'Note' To Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Many people write to their congressmen but an Ohio man used 96 pages in a handwritten letter to express his views.

The letter was sent to Rep. Ashley (D-Ohio) by Niles Wittenbrook of Alliance, Ohio, a city in the district of Rep. Bow (R-Ohio). The letter covers numerous federal issues.

It required 12 cents postage.

Liechtenstein, a tiny kingdom of 65 square miles, was once a dependency of Austria. In 1918 it declared its independence.

IBOP Wage Group To Meet Wednesday

EAST LIVERPOOL — The wage policy committee of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters will meet Wednesday at Pittsburgh to begin drafting proposals that will be used in negotiating a new contract with the U.S. Potters Association.

The 80-member committee will open the sessions at 9 a.m. at the Roosevelt Hotel. The committee includes representatives from each local union in the generalware and chinaware divisions which have a working agreement with the USPA, plus the union's 12-man executive committee headed by President E. L. Wheatley.

The sessions may continue until Saturday. The present two-year contract expires Oct. 1.

The committee's meeting will mark the first time such procedure has been followed by the IBOP. In past years, demands for wage boosts and other contract changes were worked out at the international conventions, primarily through resolutions submitted by local unions.

The machinery establishing the wage policy committee was approved at the 6th convention in Miami Beach.
